our restaurants are modelled on the ramen bars which have been popular in japan for many years. your order is taken on an electronic handheld and zapped through to the kitchen by radio signal, where it is cooked immediately. as we want to ensure the freshness of your food, individual selections of your side dishes and main meals may be delivered at different times. the aim is, don't wait - just tuck in and share, if you are rushed, please ask your server for the best selection of quick items. we hope you enjoy the wagamama experience
